Social Security

How would you protect Social Security for today's seniors and strengthen it for future generations?

AARP's Position:

Social Security should continue to guarantee that Americans who work and pay into the system receive benefits based on what they earn and contribute. Benefits should keep up with inflation and last for as long as an individual lives. We must strengthen Social Security for the future and protect benefits for people who count on them most, including surviving spouses and families, lower-wage workers, and disabled individuals who no longer can work. Social Security must be put on stable financial ground, but any adjustments should be implemented gradually so changes do not impact those in or near retirement.

Matt Salmon (Rep):

I will hold an honest and fact-based discussion with the taxpayers in my district about our insolvent entitlement programs, because I believe serious reform is needed in order to preserve Social Security, Medicare and Medicaid. (Source: The Political Guide, <http://goo.gl/nbuO5M>)

James I. Woods (Dem):

Medicare

How would you put Medicare on stronger financial ground and protect today's seniors and future retirees from rising health costs?

AARP's Position:

Medicare should be strengthened and improved so both current and future generations can count on having access to high-quality, affordable coverage. Medicare should continue to guarantee a specific set of benefits that are affordable and meet a person's health care needs. Medicare should offer choices that ensure access to high-quality health care. Medicare should improve the quality, safety, and efficiency of care by emphasizing value and cracking down on fraud, waste, and abuse.

Financial Security

How would you help Americans save so they can secure their future and live independently as they age?

AARP's Position:

More opportunities and incentives should be available for all Americans to plan and save so they can have a more secure future. Freedom from age discrimination is a fundamental right and critical to Americans' ability to have a secure retirement. Every worker should be treated fairly, regardless of age. We need to support family caregivers who make it possible for more seniors to live in their homes and communities, where they want, rather than taxpayers and struggling families paying for costlier care.

Matt Salmon (Rep):

I am proud my record in Congress of supporting measures that cut job-killing taxes and rein in red-tape regulations on businesses. As a small business owner, I understand the risks American citizens assume when creating businesses and believe government should be a partner, not an obstacle, for job creators. When I return to Congress, I will lead the fight to lower taxes on corporations, small business owners, and middle-class families so we can stimulate our economy without increased spending and get more Americans working back on the road to prosperity.
