Social Security

How would you protect Social Security for today's seniors and strengthen it for future generations?

AARP's Position:

Social Security should continue to guarantee that Americans who work and pay into the system receive benefits based on what they earn and contribute. Benefits should keep up with inflation and last for as long as an individual lives. We must strengthen Social Security for the future and protect benefits for people who count on them most, including surviving spouses and families, lower-wage workers, and disabled individuals who no longer can work. Social Security must be put on stable financial ground, but any adjustments should be implemented gradually so changes do not impact those in or near retirement.

Kevin McCarthy (Rep):

Congress can make needed reforms to Social Security to give our children and grandchildren a brighter retirement future. Under current law, our children will pay Social Security, but when they retire, the Social Security Trustees estimate that our children will not receive their fair share. Leadership is needed now to reform this unsustainable system in order to prevent dramatic tax increases or benefit cuts in the future. We can do better and should explore solutions that offer expanded opportunity, greater growth potential, and ownership. (Source: Kevin McCarthy's Website, <http://ow.ly/co1tY>)

Medicare

How would you put Medicare on stronger financial ground and protect today's seniors and future retirees from rising health costs?

AARP's Position:

Medicare should be strengthened and improved so both current and future generations can count on having access to high-quality, affordable coverage. Medicare should continue to guarantee a specific set of benefits that are affordable and meet a person's health care needs. Medicare should offer choices that ensure access to high-quality health care. Medicare should improve the quality, safety, and efficiency of care by emphasizing value and cracking down on fraud, waste, and abuse.

Kevin McCarthy (Rep):

We need to continue to make sure that our seniors have access to modern medical treatments and benefits, such as preventive care and prescription drug coverage. As the next generation of baby boomers begins to retire, we must work to ensure that Medicare's fiscal footing is sound, so current and future older Americans can continue to receive health care services from their doctors in the community. Financial Security

How would you help Americans save so they can secure their future and live independently as they age?

AARP's Position:

More opportunities and incentives should be available for all Americans to plan and save so they can have a more secure future. Freedom from age discrimination is a fundamental right and critical to Americans' ability to have a secure retirement. Every worker should be treated fairly, regardless of age. We need to support family caregivers who make it possible for more seniors to live in their homes and communities, where they want, rather than taxpayers and struggling families paying for costlier care.

Kevin McCarthy (Rep):

Now is the time to create the environment necessary to allow people to wisely and responsibly plan for their future. The personal savings rate is the highest it has been in 10 years...Making the Savings Recovery Act law would raise the contribution and catch-up limits on retirement accounts and allow Americans to build up college and retirement savings at a quicker rate than current law allows. To strengthen our fiscal future we can also take steps to get rid of wasteful spending, lower taxes for small businesses, and decrease the burden of our national debt on our children to move our nation forward for the future.
