Social Security

How would you protect Social Security for today's seniors and strengthen it for future generations?

AARP's Position:

Social Security should continue to guarantee that Americans who work and pay into the system receive benefits based on what they earn and contribute. Benefits should keep up with inflation and last for as long as an individual lives. We must strengthen Social Security for the future and protect benefits for people who count on them most, including surviving spouses and families, lower-wage workers, and disabled individuals who no longer can work. Social Security must be put on stable financial ground, but any adjustments should be implemented gradually so changes do not impact those in or near retirement.

Donna F. Edwards (Dem):

I know the fight to protect Social Security for seniors and future generations is of the utmost importance... That is why I led the fight to protect Social Security, Medicare... during the debt ceiling crisis negotiations by authoring a letter to President Obama with 69 other Members of Congress urging no benefit reductions. I later led 57 House Democrats... voicing our strong opposition to the adoption of the Chained CPI... As we move through the budgetary process in the months ahead, I will continue the fight to protect these vital programs that serve as a lifeline for millions of Americans. Medicare

How would you put Medicare on stronger financial ground and protect today's seniors and future retirees from rising health costs?

AARP's Position:

Medicare should be strengthened and improved so both current and future generations can count on having access to high-quality, affordable coverage. Medicare should continue to guarantee a specific set of benefits that are affordable and meet a person's health care needs. Medicare should offer choices that ensure access to high-quality health care. Medicare should improve the quality, safety, and efficiency of care by emphasizing value and cracking down on fraud, waste, and abuse.

Financial Security

How would you help Americans save so they can secure their future and live independently as they age?

AARP's Position:

More opportunities and incentives should be available for all Americans to plan and save so they can have a more secure future. Freedom from age discrimination is a fundamental right and critical to Americans' ability to have a secure retirement. Every worker should be treated fairly, regardless of age. We need to support family caregivers who make it possible for more seniors to live in their homes and communities, where they want, rather than taxpayers and struggling families paying for costlier care.

Donna F. Edwards (Dem):

I continue to be concerned about our economy, which is why I have championed legislation dealing with our nation's infrastructure, to create good jobs, increase and extend the research and development tax credit to help companies create 21st Century jobs here at home, and an increase in the minimum wage to ensure that the gains of a recovering economy can be felt by all our workers; including those who work for tipped wages. (Source: Edward's Campaign Site <http://ow.ly/y8DeG>)

Nancy J. Hoyt (Rep):

We must lift Government mandates that keep Small business from creating jobs and providing people with incomes that would raise them out of poverty and break their dependency on government programs. Decrease taxes so people can spend their own money on things they need and want. This would strengthen our National economy. (Source: Hoyt's Campaign Site, <http://goo.gl/t6hz25>)
