Social Security

How would you protect Social Security for today's seniors and strengthen it for future generations?

AARP's Position:

Social Security should continue to guarantee that Americans who work and pay into the system receive benefits based on what they earn and contribute. Benefits should keep up with inflation and last for as long as an individual lives. We must strengthen Social Security for the future and protect benefits for people who count on them most, including surviving spouses and families, lower-wage workers, and disabled individuals who no longer can work. Social Security must be put on stable financial ground, but any adjustments should be implemented gradually so changes do not impact those in or near retirement.

Joseph E. Perske (DFL):

Our seniors have given so much to make America safe, secure, and successful. They deserve the same from us. For generations, we have protected Social Security money so that Seniors may live out their lives with dignity. It's their money — we should never put it at risk. And Medicare works in tandem to ensure a basic level of health care, and must be maintained. (Source: Perske's Campaign Site, <http://ow.ly/xIs9h>)

Medicare

How would you put Medicare on stronger financial ground and protect today's seniors and future retirees from rising health costs?

AARP's Position:

Medicare should be strengthened and improved so both current and future generations can count on having access to high-quality, affordable coverage. Medicare should continue to guarantee a specific set of benefits that are affordable and meet a person's health care needs. Medicare should offer choices that ensure access to high-quality health care. Medicare should improve the quality, safety, and efficiency of care by emphasizing value and cracking down on fraud, waste, and abuse.

Financial Security

How would you help Americans save so they can secure their future and live independently as they age?

AARP's Position:

More opportunities and incentives should be available for all Americans to plan and save so they can have a more secure future. Freedom from age discrimination is a fundamental right and critical to Americans' ability to have a secure retirement. Every worker should be treated fairly, regardless of age. We need to support family caregivers who make it possible for more seniors to live in their homes and communities, where they want, rather than taxpayers and struggling families paying for costlier care.

Joseph E. Perske (DFL):

For example we could cut our subsidies to fossil fuel companies, and instead consider encouraging proven and reliable sustainable agricultural programs and alternative energy start ups. The goals here are to obtain food security and stable, clean energy sources. Not only will these forward-thinking businesses strengthen America's ability to face the future, they will create many good paying, permanent jobs that cannot be outsourced. Investing in a sustainable economy is simply the right thing to do. (Source: Perske's Campaign Site, <http://ow.ly/xIs9h>)
