Social Security

How would you protect Social Security for today's seniors and strengthen it for future generations?

AARP's Position:

Social Security should continue to guarantee that Americans who work and pay into the system receive benefits based on what they earn and contribute. Benefits should keep up with inflation and last for as long as an individual lives. We must strengthen Social Security for the future and protect benefits for people who count on them most, including surviving spouses and families, lower-wage workers, and disabled individuals who no longer can work. Social Security must be put on stable financial ground, but any adjustments should be implemented gradually so changes do not impact those in or near retirement.

Bradley R. Byrne (Rep):

Our seniors have worked years and invested into programs including Medicare and Social Security that the government promised would help secure their retirement. They deserve – and will get – my best efforts as your Congressman to protect these investments so that they can be assured of their health and well-being. ### Burton R. Leflore (Dem):

Medicare

How would you put Medicare on stronger financial ground and protect today's seniors and future retirees from rising health costs?

AARP's Position:

Medicare should be strengthened and improved so both current and future generations can count on having access to high-quality, affordable coverage. Medicare should continue to guarantee a specific set of benefits that are affordable and meet a person's health care needs. Medicare should offer choices that ensure access to high-quality health care. Medicare should improve the quality, safety, and efficiency of care by emphasizing value and cracking down on fraud, waste, and abuse.

Financial Security

How would you help Americans save so they can secure their future and live independently as they age?

AARP's Position:

More opportunities and incentives should be available for all Americans to plan and save so they can have a more secure future. Freedom from age discrimination is a fundamental right and critical to Americans' ability to have a secure retirement. Every worker should be treated fairly, regardless of age. We need to support family caregivers who make it possible for more seniors to live in their homes and communities, where they want, rather than taxpayers and struggling families paying for costlier care.

Bradley R. Byrne (Rep):

For too long, we have been content to sit back and nibble around the edges of the issues weighing down our economy. The result is a stagnant recovery where unemployment is still far too high, new investment and jobs are leaving the country, and many are still struggling to find work. I refuse to accept this version of America as 'the new normal.' It's time for bold action. [...] Obvious ways to improve our economy include approving the Keystone XL pipeline, ending the [...] 'War on Coal,' providing regulatory relief to business, and improving access to capital. ### Burton R. Leflore (Dem):

It's time to make sure there are adequate training programs for citizens to obtain the necessary training and preparation to apply for jobs and be competitive potential employees in the marketplace. (Source: Daily Kos, <http://ow.ly/xwKMX>)
